

Ambassador Mohamed Ibrahim Shaker received his PhD from the Graduate Institute of International Studies at the University of Geneva and also holds the Licence en Droit (LLB) from Cairo University. Among his many diplomatic posts, he served as representative of the Director General of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) to the United Nations in New York, Deputy Representative of Egypt to the United Nations Security Council, Deputy Permanent Representative of Egypt to the United Nations, Egypt's Governor on the IAEA Board of Governors, and Ambassador of Egypt to the United Kingdom. Ambassador Shaker was the President of the 1985 Review Conference of the Parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT) and was President of the United Nations Conference for the Promotion of International Cooperation in the Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy. He also served as a member of the UN Secretary General's Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters and the UN Expert Group on Disarmament and Nonproliferation Education. He currently is Chairman of the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs.